Intensive In-class Drama Program

Teachers and their classes in your school

(And other teachers and their classes are exposed through team teaching)

Facilitator-Sam Saad

In your school

- Convenient
- Local conditions

The most effective way to inservice is to do this in the same environment teachers must work in.

- No expense needed for casual teachers
- No disruption to classes

as this become part of their curriculum for that day rather than an intrusion

Hand on for teachers

- Teachers run part of the lessons

It is critical that teachers actually run part of the lesson so that by the end of the program they are ready to teach drama independently

- Teachers are involved in the process

I will work collaboratively with teachers, so that the direction taken and material covered is relevant to that teacher.

- Teachers make the start they would never have made

Many teachers would like to teach drama, but are reluctant to do so. This is the start they need.

Long term benefits for your school

- It trains teachers who can train others
- Each participating teacher gets a 100 page book and CD Rom programmer
- Child's skills are transportable as they progress through the school

The skills that the children learn remain with them as they go into new classes with new teachers. They have the necessary acting skills to heighten the success in Drama and Role Playing lessons.

Powerful Content

- Focuses on drama making

As opposed to performing pre scripted drama. In other words, the children create, and have a sense of ownership of the drama.

- Develops role playing skills useful across the curriculum

Once the children acquire the necessary role playing skills, then role playing becomes a valuable tool across the curriculum. But they must have the skills first.

Dual Benefit allows for Flexible Funding

- Child contribution, and T&D or CAPA contribution.

1. The program provides a service that is not normally attainable for the participating children
2. T&D for the teachers involved.

Extras

- $250 worth of support material.

5 books and 5 CD Roms

- Whole school staff inservice
- Team Teaching session with 5 extra teachers. That means 10 teachers are exposed to this program
